

Bioscript®

Scientific Director

Do you have a proven track record in medical communications? Can you manage and lead editorial teams while providing a high level of client service? Do you enjoy providing scientific and strategic leadership to both client and internal teams? If so, we can offer you new opportunities in a forward-thinking, friendly and dynamic agency.

Location: Macclesfield, Cheshire

Job type: Permanent, full-time or four days per week (30 – 37.5 hours per week)

Benefits: Competitive salary, profit-related bonus, pension, health insurance, 25 days' holiday and much more!

Company information

Bioscript Group agencies deliver global healthcare communications to international pharmaceutical company clients across multiple therapy areas. We are independently owned and have grown steadily over the past 13 years, adding new clients and talented new staff every year. We are proud that clients we worked with in the beginning continue to work with us today.

The role

As a Scientific Director, you will:

- Be skilled in producing clear, accurate, well-written and compliant materials
- Evaluate scientific data objectively in order to report results
- Manage, and review or write, the full range of high-quality deliverables, building on existing experience to produce a range of materials aimed at educating the medical community
- Provide technical, scientific and strategic leadership of editorial teams within Bioscript Group
- Assume responsibility for maintaining high quality delivery and client service, acting as a guardian for client relationships
- Provide internal leadership and management for designated line reports
- Contribute to resource discussions, planning, forecasting and new business initiatives

Requirements

Candidates will have experience of medical writing and client management in a medical communications agency. Key skills include:

- A post-graduate qualification and proven track record in medical or scientific writing, preferably in a client-driven business
- Scientific and editorial excellence, with impeccable written and verbal communication skills
- Demonstrable track-record of building client relationships
- The ability to line manage, mentor and motivate less experienced staff
- Budget development and management experience
- An aptitude for business development
