Company information

Bioscript Group agencies deliver global healthcare communications to international pharmaceutical company clients across multiple therapy areas. Our agencies cover the full range of medical communications and provide many opportunities for personal and professional development. Bioscript is independently owned and has grown steadily over the past 13 years, adding new clients and talented new staff every year.

The Role

This is an ideal opportunity for someone from a medical communications background who has a proven track record of strong writing skills. As a Senior Medical Writer, you will:

- Prepare a range of high quality healthcare communications, building on existing experience to produce a range of materials aimed at educating the medical community.
- Evaluate scientific data objectively in order to report results.
- Be skilled in producing clear, accurate, grammatically correct and compliant materials.
- Have experience of providing guidance for projects, reviewing materials produced by colleagues and working directly with pharmaceutical clients as a key point of contact.

Requirements

- A post-graduate qualification and proven track record in medical or scientific writing, ideally acquired in an agency environment.
- Comprehensive medical knowledge, including an understanding of clinical trials, the pharmaceutical industry, and drug development process.
- Experience of writing across a range of therapy areas.
- Strong research skills and a sound knowledge of medical databases and search engines.
- Excellent communication skills, to support collaborative relationships with colleagues and clients.
- The confidence to support clients, managing the scope and organisation of complex deliverables.
